

Valley Forge Encampment & Visit to Philadelphia February 13-16, 2015

“...unless some great and capital change suddenly takes place ... this Army must inevitably ... Starve, dissolve, or disperse, in order to obtain subsistence in the best manner they can.”

General George Washington

VALLEY FORGE. The name evokes the images of George Washington kneeling in a snow-veiled forest praying for God’s blessings, while shivering, rag-tag soldiers – their feet bound in bloody rags and their coats tattered and worn – look on in desperation, hoping their leader will help them survive the winter and the next engagement with the British. The narrative and images of a rag-tag and demoralized Continental Army hunkering down in Valley Forge over the winter of 1777-1778 come to the fore when we hear the name of that hallowed ground, and yet they are only partly true. Like many good legends told of weaker opponents defeating stronger ones, the story we are all told of Valley Forge when we are young is only half the story. The other half is equally if not more important...

For it was in Valley Forge in the winter of 1777 where that desperate Continental Army – demoralized after suffering numerous defeats against the more numerous and better trained and equipped British Army and yet determined to achieve a victory – prepared for the spring and summer fighting seasons ahead, and thus emerged stronger and more ready for action than it had ever been before. It is from Valley Forge that the army under General Washington emerged in June to go on to battlefield victories at Monmouth, New Jersey and against British-held forts in present-day Indiana, Illinois and beyond.

Drawing on these two images of Valley Forge, Troop 349 will encamp with thousands of other Scouts from other troops in the region, and focus its activities in two areas: 1) Practicing camping in cold weather conditions; and 2) Gaining an appreciation for the vital importance of Valley Forge in our Revolutionary War history.

This year's encampment will also specifically look at the role the legendary statesman, Benjamin Franklin, played during the Revolutionary War. We will all learn about him during the pilgrimage to Valley Forge all day Saturday, February 14. On Sunday, February 15, we will conduct a 9.1-mile hike around Valley Forge to view the various monuments there, as well as cabins and revetments. Those who complete the hike will earn the Valley Forge Historic Trail medal.

After the historic encampment at Valley Forge concludes, we will spend Sunday night warming up in a cabin at Camp Hart – a nearby Boy Scout camp – and then will move Monday morning to Philadelphia, where we will view the Liberty Bell and gain an appreciation of its importance as a symbol of our country; tour Independence Hall where the Declaration of Independence and Constitution were debated and signed; take a short walking tour around Independence Hall and see where Benjamin Franklin is buried; and enjoy an authentic Philly cheesesteak lunch before departing for home. We will return home Monday evening.

This will be a good opportunity for our younger and new Scouts to focus on their Tenderfoot, Second and First Class requirements (including knot-tying, first aid, cooking and the proper handling of the knife, axe and saw), and for our older and more experienced First Class, Star and Life Scouts to teach these requirements, as well as develop an appreciation for the benefits that come from teammanship and proper, sustained training. The aim is to go into Valley Forge over the weekend and come out a more cohesive, better trained and better prepared troop than we were entering the site. This would be in keeping with the experience our forefathers underwent over 230 years ago.
